A secondhand Ford Focus engine for sale can be a good option if the motor is in good condition. Some listings will provide the VIN so you can verify the mileage and get information on the donor vehicle's condition. You can also review the photos and the description to see if the engine has been tested.

A 2j7 engine wont fit due to its length. If I were you, I'd buy a 2.3l mountune long block ($12k) capable of 700 hp. Or ford performance 1.6l i4. That engine without touching the internals can make almost 700hp at 35psi. And 8500rpm.

im going to take a stab at it and guess that yes its the same motor. the easiest way to find out for sure if pop the hood on the focus and the escort. they both should be the 2.0 split port injection motors. if not then the focus is a zetec and the escort is a spi. you could swap the motors but it would be a time consuming event. at minimum you would need a computer to make the engine run.

Hello I am replacing blown 2.0IL engine on my Black 2013 Focus MK3 2.0L Duratec DI TI-VCT on my 2013 Focus that also has Powershift dual clutch transmission. I am ready to pull both engine and transmission sensors,both modules and harness with it on my donor car that has identical engine and...

Ford Stuffed A Focus RS Engine Into A Transit Connect Van

If you mean by newest as in the newest engine out, you will have to swap all harnesses, ECM, transmission, everything. All the electronics communicates differently and the harness is setup different. You will need to move dash and all modules (PATs, Radio, ECM, TCM, JCB, etc) It won't be a simple swap, plug and play, then go.

Okay.. skim-reading aside... I said originally: "Are the blocks the same but with different internal machining" I also said have the Focus' engine in the ST would be great. I said that in the vein of having the Focus's POWER in the ST. In retrospect putting the Focus motor into the Fiesta seemed to lose a little flavor the longer I considered the water jacketed exhaust.

Ford Focus: Ford focus engine swap - JustAnswer

I'm not in anyway saying every RS engine is a ticking time bomb (probably are..), I am saying that considering an RS engine swap for a performance enhancement, the 2.0L will do you better justice for your money. 158k/mi on an OE spec engine is dicey from a performance view, but a rebuilt & forged 158k/mi engine block, I wouldn't even think ...

Well, there is going to be a huge difference in price first off.....looking at roughly $3500.00 to do a V6 swap, 200 hp SVT contour engine, FWD and very emmisions freindly Labor included.....The V8 is going to vary.....I've heard up to $7000.00 for the kit, plus your drivetrain, depending on the drivetrain it's going to be somewhere between another 2000-?????.....?????HP RWD and not a snowball chance in hell passing emmisions, then you have all the labor to do it.....

Swapping RS 2.3L Into ST | Ford Focus ST Forum

Only swap I know of is the Lincoln MKC 2.3 swap. Which is the same FWD orientation 2.3 unlike the mustangs. I think either FRPP or Mountune has done it. Besides that, theres no reason. The ford ECU is the cat's meow for tuning, so there isn't many upgrades to be had with the space and orientation in mind.
